CHINCHON

Mesón Cuevas del Vino

Our historic and singular mid-18th century farmhouse, now repurposed as a restaurant, stands as a unique venue to host the most original event one can conceive.

We prepare traditional spanish cuisine, following the old ways, employing only the finest raw ingredients.

With a capacity for seven hundred guests distributed across eight different dining rooms, we are equipped to accommodate any kind of event our clients may request: conferences, product launches, cocktail receptions, lunches or dinners, live performances...

The Mill

This is an ancient olive oil press where oil was once produced. The immense millstones and the press dominate a truly special space for your events, which can accommodate all types of setups.

Lagar

This dining room, featuring a beam of over fifteen metres in length, also houses the forge where the ironwork for the mules was prepared.

It has different levels and is very spacious. Here we can host lunches or dinners, cocktail receptions, live performances, talks and colloquia, and so on.

Bodega

This is one of our most demanded dining venues. It is filled with terracotta jars where wine was once produced. Today, these jars are adorned with the signatures of illustrious personages who have visited our establishment over the past sixty years. Here, one may host cocktail receptions, lunches or dinners, conferences, or any other event a client may require.

Cascajera

This dining room takes its name from one of our fields. Charming and evocative, it brings to mind the dining rooms found in traditional old farmhouses of the Castilian countryside. As one of the most intimate spaces in our restaurant, it is perfectly suited for hosting private events and intimate gatherings.
